2. I realize that these Studies have not been completed. However, I feel that compatible working relationships between our two Offices have developed to a point where continued assistance by this Office on mutual problems can be furnished on a close day-to-day working basis rather than by actual detail. The services of [REDACTED] in particular, will be available on this basis to assist your Staff in resolving common problems.

3. Aside from the fact that I believe this to be a positive solution to our problems, we feel that the workload requirements of this Staff make it desirable that [REDACTED] return to his regular assignment as soon as possible.
